

Jstor Basic Search

If you are reading this then you want to know how to use JSOR. The mission of this guide is to support you through the process. However, you will get the most out of any online resources by exploring them yourselves.

You can access the JSTOR from any college computer by clicking on the LRC link in student portal and selecting the JSTOR button. You can also click on the JSTOR link on the LRC's Turing page. At the moment, you will need to be on a college machine to use this resource.

JSTOR has thousands journals, primary sources and books for you to explore...

To get started, type your search term into the box and click 'search

For the purpose of this guide, I will search for the 'glass and crafts'...

Once you have clicked 'search' you will see that you have over 16500 results.

JSTOR logo and search bar containing "glass and crafts". Navigation links: "Advanced Search", "Browse", "Login", "Register".

16,784 Search Results

Showing 1-25 of 16,784

Modify Search | Search Help

Sort by: Relevance | Show snippets | Export Selected Citations

Refine Results

Search Within Results:

Search within results [input] [search icon]

Content Type:

- Journals (16,651)
- Pamphlets (72)
- Books (61)

Publication Date:
(yyyy or yyyy/mm or yyyy/mm/dd)

From [input] To [input]

Subject:

- African American Studies (48)
- African Studies (270)
- American Indian Studies (43)
- American Studies

- JOURNAL ARTICLE
ITALIAN CRAFTS
Manlio Germozi
East and West, Vol. 2, No. 3 (OCTOBER 1951), pp. 161-170
Topics: Crafts, Artisans, Carving, Jewelry, Art pottery, Lace, Leathers, Visual arts, Industrial production, Candelabras
- JOURNAL ARTICLE
Lectures for Members and Children of Members
Bulletin of the Art Institute of Chicago (1907-1951), Vol. 34, No. 5 (Sep. - Oct., 1940), pp. 81-83
- JOURNAL ARTICLE
New Glass at the Yale University Art Gallery
DIANA WRIGHT
Yale University Art Gallery Bulletin, Recent Acquisitions (2011), pp. 26-33

You can narrow these results by selecting filters down the bar on the left hand side. Here you can refine your results by subject, date, publication and many others. You can also search within your search results.

It is also useful to look at 'content type' and since the results are so vast you can break down your search just to journals, books or even pamphlets as a primary source.

Once you have selected your article, you will be given a title page containing information about the text and other links that take you to other topics. This is useful for broadening your research. The article, book or pamphlet will appear below this description. Or you can click on the 'Download PDF' to save a copy to read offline.

The screenshot shows the JSTOR interface for a journal article. At the top left is the JSTOR logo. A search bar contains 'Search JSTOR' and 'All Content'. Below the search bar, there are navigation links: 'Back to Search Results', 'Yale University Art Gallery Bulletin / 2011 / New Glass at the Yale...'. The article title is 'New Glass at the Yale University Art Gallery' by Diane C. Wright. A small thumbnail image of a glass artwork is on the left. To the right of the title are four buttons: 'Download PDF', 'Add to My Lists', 'Cite this Item', and 'Journal Info'. Below the article information, there are 'Topics' listed with links: Glass, Glass art, Studio glass, Instructional materials, Art galleries, Design, Vases, Glassmaking, Glass blowing, Artists. At the bottom of the article section, there are tabs for 'Article', 'Thumbnails', and 'References'. Below the tabs, it says 'Viewing page [26] of pages 26-33' and 'Your search terms occurs 88 times in this item. View Results'. The main content area shows a large image of a green glass sculpture.

On the right hand side there are other links such as 'cite this item' which automatically creates a citation from the article.

The image displays two screenshots from a JSTOR interface. The left screenshot is a 'Cite This Item' dialog box. It features a red double-quote icon at the top center and a close button (X) at the top right. The title 'Cite This Item' is centered below the icon. Under the heading 'Copy Citation', there are three citation styles: MLA, APA, and CHICAGO. Each style is presented in a text box with a 'Copy' button to its right. The MLA citation reads: 'WRIGHT, DIANE C. "New Glass at the Yale University Art Gallery." Yale University Art Gallery Bulletin, 2011, pp. 28-33. JSTOR, JSTOR, www.jstor.org/stable/41421506.' The APA citation reads: 'WRIGHT, D. (2011). New Glass at the Yale University Art Gallery. Yale University Art Gallery Bulletin, 28-33. Retrieved from <http://www.jstor.org/stable/41421506>' The CHICAGO citation reads: 'WRIGHT, DIANE C. "New Glass at the Yale University Art Gallery." Yale University Art Gallery Bulletin, 2011, 28-33. <http://www.jstor.org/stable/41421506>.' Below the citation styles is an 'Export Citation' section with four links: 'Export to RefWorks', 'Export to EasyBib', 'Export a RIS file (For EndNote, ProCite, Reference Manager, Zotero...)', and 'Export a Text file (For BibTex)'. A note at the bottom states: 'Note: Always review your references and make any necessary corrections before using. Pay attention to names, capitalization, and dates.'

The right screenshot is a 'Journal Info' page for the 'Yale University Art Gallery Bulletin'. The page has a dark blue header with 'acting through the Yale' on the left and 'Journal Info' with a dropdown arrow on the right. The title 'Yale University Art Gallery Bulletin' is prominently displayed at the top. Below the title is a 'Description:' section with the following text: 'An annual compilation of themed essays, exhibition highlights, and Gallery news, the Yale University Art Gallery Bulletin publishes original scholarship on works in the Gallery's collection. The Gallery actively seeks out great works of art from ancient times to the present day and in every medium to enrich the collection for teaching and research, and since the late 1940s, almost every issue of the Bulletin has regularly included a full list of acquisitions made since the previous issue. Beginning with the 2010 edition of the Bulletin, these acquisition lists are published online on the Gallery's website, at <http://artgallery.yale.edu/pages/collection/newacquisitions/newac>. Switching to a digital format for this portion of the annual Bulletin contributes to Yale University's efforts to increase sustainability and conserve our natural resources.' Below the description is a 'Coverage:' section with the text '1965-2015 (Vol. 30, No. 2 -)'. The 'Moving Wall:' section indicates '1 year' with a link '(What is the moving wall?)'. The 'ISSN:' is listed as '00843539'. The 'Subjects:' are 'Art & Art History, Arts'. The 'Collections:' are 'Arts & Sciences VIII Collection'.

You can also click on 'Journal info'. This will give you a bit of further information about your source.

JSTOR is bigger than an elephant at a circus of fleas so it is really worth setting aside time to search. NOT ALL articles are full text (this means complete) some are only abstracts. Whilst this can be a bit irritating, it is worth your time in the end.